Question 27

Here is a paragraph a student wrote. There are some mistakes in the paragraph. Some sentences may have more than one mistake, and other sentences may contain no mistakes at all. There are no mistakes in spelling.

Read the paragraph and find the mistakes. Draw a line through each mistake in the paragraph. Then write the correction above it.

My school had an invention fair last weekend. It was called “Inventions of The Future.” When I hear about the fair, I decided to make something really interestingly. For several days, I thought about my invention. I thought of names, created drawings, and even thought about what color it would be. On the day of the fair. My father asked me where my invention was. I couldn’t stop laughing! I had a name, a color, and a drawing of them, but I had forgotten to make the invention. I guess I am starting early for next year’s fair!
