Agents of the American Anti-Slavery Society traveled throughout the United States to urge the abolition of slavery.

Dear Sir—You have been appointed an Agent of the American Anti-Slavery Society; …

… Our object is, the overthrow of American slavery, the most atrocious and oppressive system of bondage that has ever existed in any country. We expect to accomplish this, mainly by showing to the public its true character and legitimate fruits [real effects], its contrariety [opposition] to the first principles of religion, morals, and humanity, and its special inconsistency with our pretensions [aims], as a free, humane, and enlightened people. In this way, by the force of truth, we expect to correct the common errors that prevail respecting slavery, and to produce a just public sentiment, which shall appeal both to the conscience and love of character, of our slave-holding fellow-citizens, and convince them that both their duty and their welfare require the immediate abolition of slavery….

2a Based on this document, state one reason the American Anti-Slavery Society opposed slavery. [1]
Thomas R. Dew defended slavery in a debate in the Virginia legislature.

According to the census of 1830, there were approximately 470,000 slaves in Virginia. The average value of each slave is about $200. Thus the total value of the slave population in Virginia in 1830 was $94,000,000. Allowing for the increase since, the present value of slaves in Virginia is about $100,000,000. The assessed value of all the houses and lands in the state amounts to $206,000,000. Do not these simple statistics speak volumes upon the subject? It is seriously recommended to the state of Virginia that she give up her slaves. In other words, Virginia is expected to sacrifice one-half of her total worth!

It is, in truth, the slave labor in Virginia which gives value to the soil and to her economy. Take this away and you ruin her. Remove the slave population from the State and it is absolutely safe to say that on the day this happens, Virginia will become a “waste howling wilderness.” “The grass will be seen growing in the streets and the foxes peeping from their holes.”...

2b According to Thomas R. Dew, what is one reason slavery was important to Virginia? [1]
3 According to Eric Foner, state one reason Southern slave owners supported the expansion of slavery into the West. [1]
Document 4

In 1847, the Massachusetts legislature passed a resolution, written by Charles Sumner, opposing the war with Mexico. This is an excerpt from the resolution.

Resolved, That the present war with Mexico has its primary origin in the unconstitutional annexation to the United States of the foreign State of Texas, while the same was still at war with Mexico; that it was unconstitutionally commenced by the order of the President, to General Taylor, to take military possession of territory in dispute between the United States and Mexico, and in the occupation of Mexico; and that it is now waged ingloriously—by a powerful nation against a weak neighbor—unnecessarily and without just cause, at immense cost of treasure [money] and life, for the dismemberment of Mexico, and for the conquest of a portion of her territory, from which slavery has already been excluded, with the triple object of extending slavery, of strengthening the “Slave Power,” and of obtaining the control of the Free States, under the constitution of the United States.…

Document 5

On January 29, 1850, Senator Henry Clay proposed a series of resolutions to settle “… all questions in controversy between the free and the slave states….” The list below contains excerpts from Clay’s speech.

Selected Proposals for the Compromise of 1850

1. That California ought to be admitted into the Union without restriction as to the inclusion or exclusion of slavery.
2. That as slavery does not exist by law, and is not likely to be introduced into any of the territory acquired by the United States from the Republic of Mexico, it is not in the interest of Congress to pass a law either establishing or prohibiting it in the land acquired from Mexico….
3. That it is not wise to abolish slavery in the District of Columbia while slavery continues to exist in Maryland without the consent of that state, the consent of the people of the District, and without just payment to the owners of slaves within the District.
4. That, however, it is wise to prohibit in the District of Columbia, the bringing-in of slaves from other states either to be used in the District or to be sold there for use in other states.
5. That stronger provision ought to be made by law for the capture and return of slaves who may have escaped into any other state or territory in the Union.
6. That Congress has no power to prohibit or prevent the trading of slaves between States. This depends completely on the laws of each individual state.

… Slavery was not the only cause of North–South confrontation during the 1830s and 1840s. Ever since the passage in 1828 of the high protective tariff, dubbed by Southerners “The Tariff of Abominations,” the Southern states had been protesting not just its unfairness but also its illegality. They managed to get it reduced in 1832, though that was not enough for many South Carolinians who argued that an individual state, as a party to the original compact that created the Union, had the right to declare null and void within its borders a Federal law that it considered unconstitutional or unjust. On this basis a special state convention of South Carolina nullified the tariff acts of 1828 and 1832, banned the collection of duties within its borders and declared that any use of force by the Federal government would justify secession from the Union. The Northern majority in Congress voted the President additional powers to enforce collection of the revenues, but others successfully sought conciliatory [friendly] ways to avoid an irrevocable [unstoppable] collision on this issue and the immediate crisis was averted, although South Carolinians did not discard their secessionist arguments.…

Confederate General John B. Gordon was a civilian-turned-soldier who became one of General Robert E. Lee’s most trusted commanders.

… The South maintained with the depth of religious conviction that the Union formed under the Constitution was a Union of consent and not of force; that the original States were not the creatures but the creators of the Union; that these States had gained their independence, their freedom, and their sovereignty from the mother country, and had not surrendered these on entering the Union; that by the express terms of the Constitution all rights and powers not delegated were reserved to the States; and the South challenged the North to find one trace of authority in that Constitution for invading and coercing a sovereign State.

The North, on the other hand, maintained with the utmost confidence in the correctness of her position that the Union formed under the Constitution was intended to be perpetual; that sovereignty was a unit and could not be divided; that whether or not there was any express power granted in the Constitution for invading a State, the right of self-preservation was inherent in all governments; that the life of the Union was essential to the life of liberty; or, in the words of Webster, “liberty and union are one and inseparable.”
