40 The main idea of this 1991 cartoon is that President George H. W. Bush
(1) has successfully removed Saddam Hussein from power in Iraq
(2) has a strong record of reducing crime in urban America
(3) has effectively handled foreign policy challenges but faces economic ones
(4) is prepared to make improvements in the economy

Base your answer to question 43 on the cartoon below and on your knowledge of social studies.

43 The main purpose of this cartoon is to point out that

1. global warming is a proven theory
2. additional oil supplies must be located
3. individuals contribute to environmental problems
4. prosperity depends on increased sales of automobiles

44 Ernest Hemingway, F. Scott Fitzgerald, and Sinclair Lewis were popular authors who often wrote about

1. the problems of urban life in the 1890s
2. disillusionment with American society in the 1920s
3. the migration of farmers in the 1930s
4. water and air pollution in the 1960s

45 Changes in policies during the administrations of both President Woodrow Wilson and President Franklin D. Roosevelt demonstrate that

1. war can influence domestic reform programs
2. public opinion is usually opposed to deficit spending
3. presidents often lose power during wartime
4. United States territorial expansion results in economic growth

Base your answer to question 46 on the photograph below and on your knowledge of social studies.

46 Conditions such as the one shown in the photograph were legally ended by the

1. issuance of the Emancipation Proclamation in 1863
2. ratification of the 15th amendment in 1870
3. decision in Plessy v. Ferguson in 1896
4. passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964

47 The terms Teapot Dome, Watergate, and Iran-Contra are most closely associated with

1. domestic policies
2. presidential scandals
3. federal court decisions
4. failed reform movements

48 One way in which the New Deal and the Great Society are similar is that both programs were based on the belief that

1. volunteer organizations should take over federal relief efforts
2. government should impose fewer regulations on business
3. states should pay a larger share of the cost of federal programs
4. the federal government should do more to help citizens in need
49 The Supreme Court decision in Schenck v. United States (1919) and the passage of the USA Patriot Act (2001) demonstrate the principle that the federal government can
(1) guarantee citizens the right to bear arms
(2) restrict the power of the president
(3) limit individual rights in times of national emergency
(4) expand the liberties protected by the Bill of Rights

50 Since the end of World War II (1945), what has been a major effect of population change in the United States?
(1) The Social Security system went bankrupt.
(2) Demand for medical facilities has declined.
(3) A surplus of unskilled workers has led to decreased immigration.
(4) Suburban areas have grown faster than cities.

Part II

THEMATIC ESSAY QUESTION

Directions: Write a well-organized essay that includes an introduction, several paragraphs addressing the task below, and a conclusion.

Theme: United States Foreign Policy

United States presidents often make foreign policy decisions in an attempt to deal with international problems. These decisions have had an impact on both the United States and on other countries or regions.

Task:

Select two presidential foreign policy decisions and for each

- Describe the historical circumstances surrounding the decision
- Discuss an impact of the decision on the United States
- Discuss an impact of the decision on another country or region

You may use any presidential foreign policy decision that dealt with an international problem from your study of United States history. Some suggestions you might wish to consider include James K. Polk sending troops to the Rio Grande (1846), William McKinley deciding to annex the Philippines (1898), Woodrow Wilson asking for a declaration of war (1917), Harry Truman deciding to use the atomic bomb (1945), John F. Kennedy quarantining Cuba (1962), Lyndon B. Johnson sending combat troops to Vietnam (1965–1968), Richard Nixon improving relations with China (1972), George H. W. Bush sending troops to Kuwait (1990–1991), and George W. Bush sending troops to Iraq (2003).

You are not limited to these suggestions.

Guidelines:

In your essay, be sure to

- Develop all aspects of the task
- Support the theme with relevant facts, examples, and details
- Use a logical and clear plan of organization, including an introduction and a conclusion that are beyond a restatement of the theme

In developing your answer to Part II, be sure to keep these general definitions in mind:
(a) describe means “to illustrate something in words or tell about it”
(b) discuss means “to make observations about something using facts, reasoning, and argument; to present in some detail”

DOCUMENT-BASED QUESTION

This question is based on the accompanying documents. The question is designed to test your ability to work with historical documents. Some of these documents have been edited for the purposes of this question. As you analyze the documents, take into account the source of each document and any point of view that may be presented in the document.

Historical Context:

Throughout United States history, movements have sought to bring about economic, political, and social change. These movements have had a significant impact on the United States and on American society. These movements include the abolitionist movement, the labor movement, and the woman’s suffrage movement.

Task: Using the information from the documents and your knowledge of United States history, answer the questions that follow each document in Part A. Your answers to the questions will help you write the Part B essay in which you will be asked to

Choose two of the movements mentioned in the historical context and for each
- Describe the historical circumstances that led to this movement
- Describe how this movement attempted to achieve its goals
- Discuss the impact of this movement on the United States and/or on American society

Short-Answer Questions

Directions: Analyze the documents and answer the short-answer questions that follow each document in the space provided.

Document 1a

1a Based on these graphs, state one relationship between cotton production and the growth of slavery between 1800 and 1860. [1]
Document 1b

African-born James L. Bradley was a slave who purchased his freedom. In 1834, while a student at the Lane Seminary in Cincinnati, Ohio, he wrote a short account of his life. This is an excerpt from his account.

… I will begin as far back as I can remember. I think I was between two and three years old when the soul-destroyers tore me from my mother's arms, somewhere in Africa, far back from the sea. They carried me a long distance to a ship; all the way I looked back, and cried. The ship was full of men and women loaded with chains; but I was so small, they let me run about on deck.

After many long days, they brought us into Charleston, South Carolina. A slaveholder bought me, and took me up into Pendleton County. I suppose that I staid [stayed] with him about six months. He sold me to a Mr. Bradley, by whose name I have ever since been called. This man was considered a wonderfully kind master; and it is true that I was treated better than most of the slaves I knew. I never suffered for food, and never was flogged with the whip; but oh, my soul! I was tormented with kicks and knocks more than I can tell. My master often knocked me down, when I was young. Once, when I was a boy, about nine years old, he struck me so hard that I fell down and lost my senses. I remained thus some time, and when I came to myself, he told me he thought he had killed me. At another time, he struck me with a currycomb [metal comb used for grooming horses], and sunk the knob into my head. I have said that I had food enough; I wish I could say as much concerning my clothing. But I let that subject alone, because I cannot think of any suitable words to use in telling you…

1b According to this document, what was one hardship James L. Bradley experienced as a slave? [1]
There were tactical differences between [Frederick] Douglass and William Lloyd Garrison, white abolitionist and editor of The Liberator—differences between black [African American] and white abolitionists in general. Blacks were more willing to engage in armed insurrection [rebellion], but also more ready to use existing political devices—the ballot box, the Constitution—anything to further their cause. They were not as morally absolute in their tactics as the Garrisonians. Moral pressure would not do it alone, the blacks knew; it would take all sorts of tactics, from elections to rebellion.

White abolitionists did courageous and pioneering work, on the lecture platform, in newspapers, in the Underground Railroad. Black abolitionists, less publicized, were the backbone of the antislavery movement. Before Garrison published his famous Liberator in Boston in 1831, the first national convention of Negroes had been held, David Walker had already written his “Appeal,” and a black abolitionist magazine named Freedom's Journal had appeared. Of The Liberator's first twenty-five subscribers, most were black.

2 According to Howard Zinn, what was one method used by abolitionists to achieve their goals? [1]
… The success or failure of abolitionism must be judged against the broader question, what was possible? In confronting the most divisive issue in American history, slavery, abolitionism provided the voice of conscience. It assisted tens of thousands of individual blacks, steered the nation toward a recognition of universal rights, and was instrumental in embedding those rights into the Constitution.

Even the “mistakes” of abolitionism had interesting consequences. For example, because male abolitionists did not fight to include the word “female” in the Thirteenth*, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth amendments, the women’s rights movement was rekindled in a backlash of anger.…

*The 13th amendment applied equally to females and males.

3 According to Wendy McElroy, what were two impacts of the abolitionist movement?  [2]

Representatives of The Harbinger visited factories in Lowell, Massachusetts, and Manchester, New Hampshire. This is an excerpt from the magazine's report of its findings.

… The girls [in the Lowell Mills] attended upon an average three looms; many attended four, but this requires a very active person, and the most unremitting [constant] care. However, a great many do it. Attention to two is as much as should be demanded of an operative. This gives us some idea of the application required during the thirteen hours of daily labor. The atmosphere of such a room cannot of course be pure; on the contrary, it is charged with cotton filaments and dust, which, we are told, are very injurious to the lungs.

On entering the room, although the day was warm, we remarked that the windows were down. We asked the reason, and a young woman answered very naively, and without seeming to be in the least aware that this privation of fresh air was anything else than perfectly natural, that “when the wind blew, the threads did not work well.” After we had been in the room for fifteen or twenty minutes, we found ourselves, as did the persons who accompanied us, in quite a perspiration, produced by a certain moisture which we observed in the air, as well as by the heat.…

Based on this time line, what was one way workers responded to their working conditions between 1869 and 1902? [1]
Document 6a

… A better relationship between labor and management is the high purpose of this Act. By assuring the employees the right of collective bargaining it fosters the development of the employment contract on a sound and equitable basis. By providing an orderly procedure for determining who is entitled to represent the employees, it aims to remove one of the chief causes of wasteful economic strife. By preventing practices which tend to destroy the independence of labor, it seeks, for every worker within its scope, that freedom of choice and action which is justly his.…

According to Sara M. Evans, what was one experience of women that contributed to their demand for equality? [1]

… The history of mankind is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations [dispossessions] on the part of man toward woman, having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over her. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has never permitted her to exercise her inalienable right to the elective franchise.

He has compelled her to submit to laws, in the formation of which she had no voice.…

He has made her, if married, in the eye of the law, civilly dead.

He has taken from her all right in property, even to the wages she earns.…

After depriving her of all rights as a married woman, if single, and the owner of property, he has taxed her to support a government which recognizes her only when her property can be made profitable to it.…

Document 8b

... As [Elizabeth Cady] Stanton predicted, women’s professional and tactical experience contributed powerfully to a reinvigorated suffrage movement. NAWSA [National American Woman Suffrage Association] proved to be an effective, formidable organization. Its membership increased geometrically, from 13,150 in 1893 to over two million in 1917. Suffragists mounted hundreds of campaigns within party conventions, legislatures and constitutional convocations [assemblies]. They raised millions of dollars, mostly in small sums. Countless men and women participated in vigils, parades, hunger strikes and illegal invasions of polling places. Dozens suffered imprisonment and fines. In 1873, Susan B. Anthony was arrested for the federal crime of “having voted without the lawful right to vote.” At her highly publicized trial in Rochester, New York, she was convicted and fined by a judge who brushed aside the jury and whose opinion had been written in advance of the trial.

... As it turned out, women’s suffrage had few consequences, good or evil. Millions of women voted (although never in the same proportion as men), women were elected to public office (several gained seats in Congress by the end of the 1920's), but the new electorate caused scarcely a ripple in American political life. Women like Jane Addams made great contributions, but it would be difficult to demonstrate that they accomplished any more after they had the vote than before. It was widely believed, although never proved, that women cast a “dry” vote for Hoover in 1928 and that women were likely to be more moved than men to cast a “moral-issue” vote. Otherwise, the earth spun around much as it had before....
