Mechanics of Rating

The following procedures are to be used in rating papers for this test. More detailed directions for the organization of the rating process and procedures for rating the examination are included in the Grade 5 Elementary-Level Social Studies Test, Manual for Administrators and Teachers. The 2009 edition of the test manual can be found at www.emsc.nysed.gov/osa/elintsocst.html. Click on the manual under Grade 5.

Rating the Part III B Essay Question

1. Follow your school’s procedures for training raters. This process should include:

   - Introduction to the task—
     - Raters read the task
     - Raters identify the answers to the task
     - Raters discuss possible answers and summarize expectations for student responses

   - Introduction to the specific rubric and anchor papers—
     - Trainer leads review of specific rubric with reference to the task
     - Trainer reviews procedures for assigning holistic scores, i.e., by matching evidence from the response to the rubric
     - Trainer leads review of each anchor paper and commentary

   - Practice scoring individually—
     - Raters score a set of papers independently without looking at the scores and commentaries provided
     - Trainer records scores and leads discussion until the raters feel confident enough to move on to actual rating

2. When actual rating begins, each rater should record his or her individual rating for a student’s essay on the rating sheet provided, not directly on the student’s essay or answer sheet. The rater should not correct the student’s work by making insertions or changes of any kind.

3. Each essay must be rated by at least two raters; a third rater will be necessary to resolve scores that differ by more than one point. Do not round up essay scores.

Rating the Part III A (Scaffold) Questions

1. Follow a similar procedure for training raters.
2. The scaffold questions need only be scored by one rater.
3. The scores for each scaffold question may be recorded in the student’s test booklet.
4. Each correct response in Part III A has a score of 0.5.
5. If the total Part III A score ends in .5, round up to the nearest whole number before recording the total Part III A score.

The scoring coordinator will be responsible for organizing the movement of papers, calculating a final score for each student’s essay, recording that score on the student’s Part I answer sheet or on the last page of test booklet 2, and determining the student’s final test score. The conversion chart for this test is located on the Department’s web site http://www.emsc.nysed.gov/osa/. Only the chart for the November 2009 test may be used for determining the final test score.
Scoring Notes:
1. Correct responses in Part III A are awarded ½ credit. The maximum number of credits for this part of the test is 6.
2. If a student's total credits for Part III A ends in 0.5, round up to the nearest whole number.
   For example, if the total credit is 4.5, round up to 5 and place that score on the student’s Part I answer sheet or on page 10 of test booklet 2 and on the back cover of test booklet 2.

The Flag’s Birthday

On June 14, 1777, the Second Continental Congress authorized the use of a new flag to symbolize [represent] the newly formed United States of America. At the time, the flag consisted of thirteen stripes, alternating red and white, and a union of thirteen white stars on a blue field. Although Congress changed the flag several times between 1777 and 1959, June 14 is considered the “birthday” of the original American flag. . . .

After 1818, more and more states joined the Union. But if a new stripe were added for each new state, the flag would get too big. Congressman Peter H. Wendover of New York City had an idea. He suggested that the number of stripes should always be thirteen in honor of the thirteen original states, and that a star should be added for each new state that joined the Union. . . .

Every part of our [United States] Flag has a meaning which we American citizens should be able to read. The blue field and its fifty white stars stand for the Union of our fifty states, that is, for the United States of America. The thirteen stripes of red and white stand for the thirteen original colonies, which became the first thirteen states of the United States. The colors of the Flag are also symbolic. For hundreds of years red has been the color for courage. The red in our Flag represents courage, too — the courage of our forefathers who fought for independence, the courage of patriots who died for their country, and the courage of all the brave men and women who helped to build our nation. White stands for liberty — the spirit of America. Blue, true blue, is the color of the heavens and stands for loyalty — the loyalty of all Americans to their country and their Constitution. Courage, liberty, loyalty — this is the message that the “Red, White, and Blue” has for us. . . .

The original pledge to the flag was written and published in 1892. When people recite the Pledge of Allegiance, they are promising to be loyal to the United States of America.

“The Star-Spangled Banner” became our national anthem in 1931. The words were written by Francis Scott Key during the War of 1812. He was happy to see the flag still flying at the end of a battle with Great Britain. He described the flag as a star-spangled banner.

The Star-Spangled Banner
Words by Francis Scott Key

O say, can you see, by the dawn’s early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight’s last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O’er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming!
And the rocket’s red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there:
O say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O’er the land of the free and the home of the brave? . . .

Throughout history of the United States of America, the American Flag has remained an important symbol of freedom and democracy to its citizens.

Since June 14, 1777, America has been represented by our Stars and Stripes, our American Flag. Although the flag has had alterations, it still stands for the same thing. At first the American Flag had thirteen stripes, alternating from red to white and thirteen stars representing the thirteen colonies. In 1818, it came to be the flag we see today. In 1818, new states were added to America. If there were one Stripe for each state, the flag would be way too big. Wendover of New York decided it would make more sense to add a star for every state. We would still keep the stripes of red and white representing the original thirteen colonies. The flag’s colors would be the same and still represent the same thing. Red represents courage, white represents liberty and blue represents loyalty. Courage, liberty and loyalty, our country!

We have two major ways to show our loyalty to our flag. In school every morning, we say a pledge of allegiance. You may not think anything about it, but that is the best way to show loyalty to our country. The pledge Of allegiance was originally written and published in 1892. The other major way to show our loyalty is to sing the "Star Spangled Banner." The Star Spangled Banner was written by Francis Scott Key during the war of 1812 against the British. He was amazed to see our flag still waving even after all the bombs that hit their fort.

Displaying the flag is very important too. The flag should be raised at sunrise and lowered at sunset. The American Flag should never touch anything beneath it. It shouldn't be raised in bad weather unless it is water proof. When the flag is raised, it symbolizes an accomplishment. A flag at half-staff stands for a death. A lowered flag stands for great sorrow.

Our American Flag has represented its freedom and democracy throughout history. The American Flag is an amazing representation of our country!

The response:
• Thoroughly develops the task by writing about the history of the United States flag and its importance as a symbol of the United States
• Consistently includes accurate information from all the documents
• Provides supporting evidence, using many relevant examples, reasons, and details (since June 14, 1777, America has been represented by our stars and stripes, our American flag; courage, liberty, and loyalty, our country); includes relevant outside information (in school every morning, we say a pledge of allegiance; our flag was still waving after all the bombs that hit their fort)
• Demonstrates a logical and clear plan of organization; includes an introduction, body, and conclusion

Conclusion: Overall, this response fits the criteria for Level 4. The response is well written with a logical sequence that integrates accurate data from different documents and some outside information into each paragraph. The facts are restated in an original manner with sufficient supporting details.
Our flag is a very important symbol. It has been through good times and bad times, wars and depression, and a lot of changes. This is its history.

Our flag was put into use on June 14, 1777. It symbolized the new USA, with 13 stars and 13 stripes to represent the 13 original states. As more and more states joined the Union, the flag got more stars and stripes. Eventually, the flag got crowded. Then, Congressman Peter H. Wendover had an idea. "Why don’t we have 13 stripes to represent the original 13 states and 1 star for each state in the Union?" he suggested. Everyone liked his idea, and they changed the flag.

The flag is a very important symbol. How important, you ask? It’s so

- Thoroughly develops the task by writing about the history of the United States flag and its importance as a symbol of the United States
- Consistently includes accurate information from documents 1, 2, 3, and 5

- Demonstrates a logical and clear plan of organization, lacks a formal introduction and conclusion

Conclusion: Overall, this response fits the criteria for Level 4. Information chosen from the documents is expressed in an original essay with some outside information. This response is a good example of separating the discussion of the history and the symbolism of the flag.
Throughout the history of the American Flag, it has remained an important symbol of our freedom and democracy. I am writing about our flag's history.

On June 14, 1777 the Second Continental Congress authorized use of a new flag. At that time there were only 13 states. Congress changed the flag many times between 1777 and 1959. June 14 is the birthday of the flag.

After 1818 a lot of states joined the Union. If a new stripe was added for each new state the flag would be huge. Congressman Peter H. decided that the number of stripes should stay at thirteen and add a star for each new state. All the colors on our flag... have a meaning. Red stands for courage. Blue stands for loyalty. White stands for liberty. The stripes on our flag stand for the original 13 states. The blue field and the fifty white stars stand for the Union of our states.

There are certain ways you have to use the flag. You have to raise it up quickly and lower it slowly. You can’t let it touch the ground, floor, or water. You can’t place any symbol over it. You have to display it from sunrise till sunset. Only display it at night if there are lights on it. Don’t put it in bad weather unless it is waterproof.

The flag is a very important symbol of our country. That is why it is called the flag of the United States of America.
The response:

- Develops the task by writing about the history of the United States flag and its importance as a symbol of the United States
- Includes accurate information from documents 1, 2, 3, and 5; includes portions of the documents that support specific points
- Provides supporting evidence, using some relevant examples, reasons, and details (Congress changed the flag many times between 1777 and 1959; red stands for courage; blue stands for loyalty; white stands for liberty)
- Demonstrates a general plan of organization; includes a good introduction and conclusion

Conclusion: Overall, this response fits the criteria for Level 3. The response shows an understanding of the task and the documents. When addressing the history of the flag, the response uses sufficient facts and supporting details with some copied information. When addressing the symbols of the flag, most of the facts are listed as they appear in the relevant documents.
There are many ways to write about the history of the United States flag and its importance as a symbol of the United States. Apollo 14 commander Alan Shepard planted the United States flag on the moon. Francis Scott Key wrote the Star-Spangled Banner during the War of 1812. On June 14, 1777, the Second Continental Congress authorized the use of a new flag to represent the newly formed United States of America.

One way the United States flag and its symbol is important to us is the colors. There are three colors on the flag. All the colors mean something. Red means the courage of our forefathers who fought for independence. White stands for liberty—the spirit of America.

Another way the United States flag and its symbol is important to us is its stripes. There are 50 stars and 13 stripes. The stripes and stars mean something. The stars mean a new state. The stripes mean the 13 original States.

The last way the United States flag and its symbol is important to us is displaying it.
The response:
• Develops the task by writing about the history of the United States flag and its importance as a symbol of the United States
• Includes accurate information from documents 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, and 7

• Demonstrates a general plan of organization; includes an introduction and a weak conclusion

Conclusion: Overall, this response fits the criteria for Level 3. The history of the flag is addressed by using accurate facts, but this portion lists key facts without tying them together. The portion relating to the symbols of the flag is well-written with accurate facts and supporting details.
My essay is mainly about the history of the American flag. Also, its importance as a symbol of the United States.

Using the details from the photograph in document 1. The first American flag had 13 stars and 13 strips. Those stars and strips stood for the newly formed United States.

According to the information in document 2, after 1818 more and more states joined the Union. So, more strips had to be added to the flag, but the flag was starting to get too big. So, a man named Peter H. Wendover of New York City came up with an idea, add stars instead of strips. The 13 strips are in honor of the original states.
The response:

- Develops the task by writing about the history of the United States flag and its importance as a symbol of the United States
- Includes accurate information from documents 1, 2, 5, and 7; includes portions of the documents that support specific points
- Provides supporting evidence, using some relevant examples, reasons, and details (the first American flag had 13 stars and 13 stripes; those stars and stripes stood for the newly formed United States; flag is a symbol of our country and its freedom)
- Demonstrates a general plan of organization; includes a brief introduction and conclusion

Conclusion: Overall, this response fits the criteria for Level 3. The response selects pertinent facts from the documents, but lacks continuity in placing the information together.
Throughout the history of the United States, the American flag has remained an important symbol of freedom and democracy for its citizens. In these paragraphs, you will read about the flag and about what it presents.

The flag has 13 stripes for 13 colonies. In 1818 the congressman Peter H. Wendover suggested to keep the 13 stripes for 13 colonies and add more stars for more states. The flag of allegiance was that the people promised to be loyal to United States of America. That is what the flag is all about.

Each color stripe on the flag means something else. The red stripes stand for the courage of our
The response:

- Develops the task of writing about the history of the United States flag and its importance as a symbol of the United States.
- Includes limited information from documents 1, 2, 3, 4, and 7.
- Provides little supporting evidence, using few relevant examples, reasons, and details (the Pledge of Allegiance was that people promised to be loyal to the United States; the flag flown at half-staff symbolizes the honor to someone who has died, such as an American President).
- Demonstrates a general plan of organization; includes an introduction that restates the historical background and a weak conclusion.

Conclusion: Overall, this response fits the criteria for Level 2. The response consists primarily of relevant information from the documents in a list format with only limited supporting details.
The American flag is important because it symbolizes freedom and democracy for its citizens. This happened throughout the history of the United States. The flag represents a lot of things. The following documents support that the U.S. flag was so important.

First the flag symbolizes many things shown in document 7. It symbolizes our freedom and democracy. Next the flag represents courage, loyalty and liberty as shown in documents 3 and 2. Courage, loyalty and liberty come from the colors red, white and blue. The 13 stripes represent the 13 original states. The stars represent each of the States. Another thing, is why the flag is so important, this is shown in documents 3 and 1. The flag shows freedom and loyalty to our country. Finally the flag means our Country is strong is a free country and that we have courage, loyalty and freedom. This is all shown in documents 3 and very little in document 6.

In conclusion the flag is very important and represents our country very well. It has always been their risen proud, even through battles.

The response:
- Develops the task by writing about the history of the United States flag and its importance as a symbol of the United States
